

How ProMach Pharma is Helping in the Fight Against COVID-19

We Are Fully Operational

New equipment, parts ordering and service technicians are available to support you in these times of need.

ProMach Pharma companies are fully operational in this time of need. Our manufacturing sites have all been designated essential and continue to serve the Pharmaceutical, Nutraceutical, Vitamin and Biotechnology industries. This includes our Parts Department for any replacement parts, as well as Service Technicians to keep your plants fully operational. We are also using technology to help our technicians provide remote service directly to your organizations. In this time of uncertainty, we are striving to support our customers at the highest levels while protecting our employees, families and local communities.

ProMach Pharma is offering an enhanced service tool named Help Lightning™, a virtual interactive presence, allowing a service technician to effectively reach into your environment and provide support, without physically entering your facility. Call us to learn more.

While we are all operating in a rapidly changing environment, ProMach Pharma remains steadfast in supporting our customers.
